Care organisations

Housing corporations

Important shifts...

- Shift from financial crisis to also a social crisis
- Shift from the national government to local communities, to the citizens
- Shift from taking care of to taking care that
- Shift from the perspective of a housing corporation: no money available.....

Cooperations: the solution?

Is local power and community care the solution?

- Local power and community care are part of a bigger movement in societies.
- Not only visible in housing, care and welfare, but also in the fields of energy, sharing cars, food, gardening.
- Cooperations are very popular!

Power is needed now!

- But....who will take care of the vulnerable?
- Amount of people with dementia etcetera is increasing
- Loneliness will be a big issue
- Fear of gap between haves and have nots
- Civic core is high educated, white and middle-aged

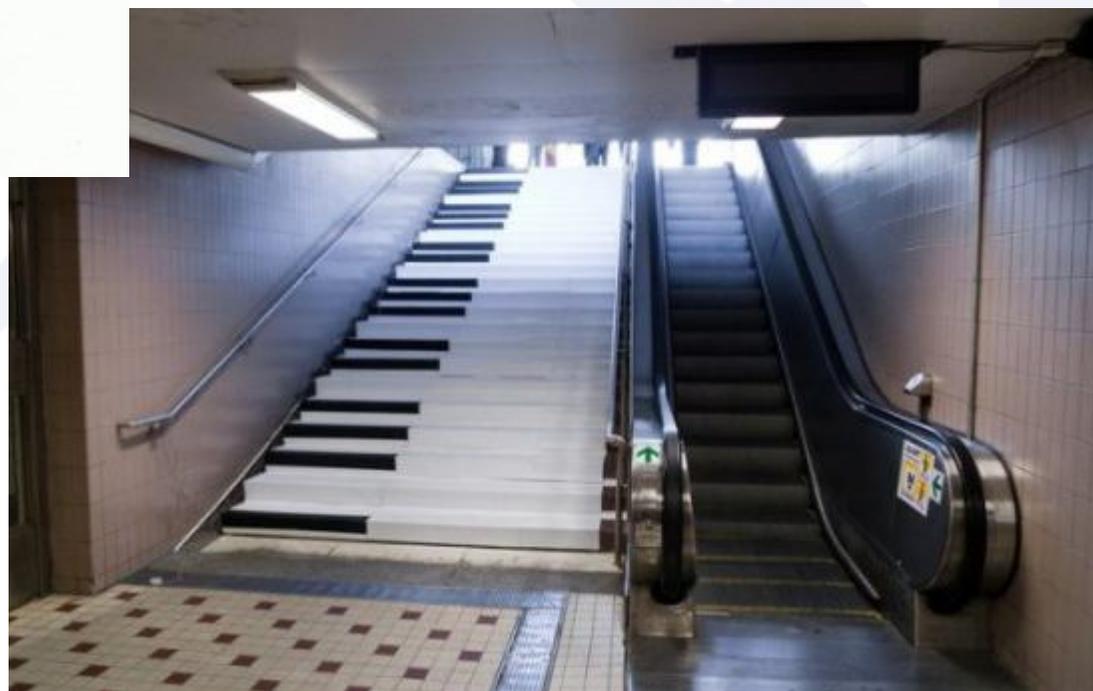

A society of all ages;
it really happens!

- Housing corporation Habion: bringing teenage-mothers and senior citizens together
- Housing corporation WBVG and Talis: building a housing complex for multiple generations
- Housing corporation Woonbron uses talents from the neighbourhood
- Housing corporation Woonwaard designs neighbourhoods that stimulate movement

Power ingredients in housing and care

- Collaboration between people and their network, professionals, local initiatives and the local community
- Apartments that are senior-friendly
- Neighbourhoods that are accessible and designed in a way so that meeting each other is easy
- Services close to people (public transport nearby)
- Tailor made housing, welfare and care: people are diverse, and so is the neighbourhood

Some powerful thoughts....

‘Life is not measured by the number of breaths we take but by the moments that take our breath away.’

‘And in the end it is not the years in your life that count. It is the life in your years.’
